DiveTek. Magazine for the felt into diving

Our topic - diving technology and the magazine is made to cover all aspects of underwater activities from diving to ocean research. Address for the technologies is found mainly in technical diving, so the technical diving goes to the top of our interests, however, we recognize our reader as a passionate diver. Those, taking diving seriously, not only for a few days of vacation, but «living in a sea world», are eager to upgrade constantly their diving skills and interested in the world around.

Our reader may have any diver's qualification, from Open Water to Advanced Trimix Instructor, being a commercial diver or just considering taking the first course and going underwater. All of us united by the everlasting desire to know more about our common passion - diving and love to the underwater world.

Since 2003 we've been providing our readers with useful information about diving methods and technology, equipment, underwater photography and interesting travel destinations. Experienced divers, credited photographers, travelers and marine scientists sharing their experience in underwater planet always present our pages and methods of it research.
